DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION

Biggest Crowd in History of City

The 46th birthday of the Dominion of Canada was fittingly celebrated in Red Deer yesterday. The day was all that could be desired—warm, cloudy and a gentle breeze blowing, and although heavy clouds appeared on the horizon, not a drop of rain fell until the evening, after all the sports were over.

The crowd was the largest ever seen in the city at a celebration of this sort, train loads coming from Bowden, Hobbins, Carstairs and Ingleton in the south and Lacombe, Coronation, Stettler, Blackfalds and other points in the north. There were over 2,000 people on the grounds.

TRAP SHOOTING.
At nine o'clock the greatest trap shoot ever held west of the Great Lakes started with 100 competitors, 10 of whom were from Red Deer, from all parts of Alberta, including four professionals, one of them from Spokane.

P. Bowen, Strathcona, tied with four others in Alberta Championship doubles, but won out in a hard fought shoot-off, lasting two rounds. W. B. McLean, Lacombe, won the Powder Trophy for high average with 95 per cent.

Dr. Plaxton won the high average trophy of the Dominion Cartridge Co. for Dominion shells.

Red Deer won the team shot from a tie score with Calgary with seven birds to the good.

PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION.
At ten o'clock the school children, band, Fire Brigade, Boy Scouts, autos and others formed at the school and marched to the City Square, where patriotic addresses were delivered by Rev. Wilson and His Worship Mayor Galbraith. The Dominion flag was raised while the children sang the National Anthem. "The Maple Leaf" was also sung, and the Citizens' Band played several selections, after which the people dispersed to the exhibition grounds and other portions of the city.

FOOTBALL.
At 11 o'clock the Edmonton Canlies and Red Deer United played on the exhibition grounds, the Canlies winning out by 4-0. In the afternoon the Firemen played the Tyndersiders of Calgary, the latter winning by 2-1 in a very closely contested game. The Firemen got the first goal, but Wright was hurt and laid off, and the Brigade played with the handicap of ten to eleven men, with Heward crippled with a lame shoulder. They would have won out if Wright had not been hurt. Later the Tyndersiders played with the Edmonton Canlies in the final, when the Edmonton club badly defeated the Calgary club by 4-0 in a very one-sided game. The Calgary men were badly used up with the heat, the two games being too much for them.

BASEBALL.
Three exciting baseball games were played between teams from Bowden, Lacombe, Carstairs and Red Deer. Bowden, with Wadsworth and Turner, the well known combination, played Red Deer first, and Red Deer gravely retired in the sixth with something like 16-3 against them. Carstairs then defeated Lacombe in a close race by one run. The final between Bowden and Carstairs resulted in Bowden winning out 10-8.

Percy Smyth pitched very well for Red Deer, but received rather poor support.

EVENING PROGRAMME.

Shortly after seven o'clock, a sharp thunder storm, accompanied by hail, passed over the city, but it cleared in a short time, and the big bonfire and grand fireworks display, on the City Square, took place on schedule time. The performance passed off without a hitch, the Citizens' Band rendering choice musical selections during the evening; and the National Anthem brought this, the most glorious and successful Dominion Day celebration ever held in Red Deer to a close about 11 o'clock. All those who took part in any way, and there were many, are entitled to the thanks of the city and citizens generally for their untiring efforts in making the day a success.

Window Dressing Competition

The window dressing and decorating for Dominion Day this year was held in a way that has never been seen before. It was a credit to everyone concerned. Patriotic flags and bunting were freely displayed, intermingled with the goods and outside on the store fronts. Practically every store made a showing, but some of them laid themselves out in earnest to win the prize offered by the committee for the best decorated windows, and spent no end of time on the job. Those that won, and those that did not, were commended alike by the citizens for their efforts to make the City look something like a loyal city should.

The Smith & Gaetz windows made a great showing. The window facing Ross St. and Gaetz Avenue being the main one, was laid out with a model of an up-to-date modern dwelling house, advertising the Sherwin-Williams paint. The house occupied the entire of the store, and had sloping lawns down to the glass, with properly laid out walks, the borders being bordered with public stones. Around the lawns were fifteen electric arc lamps fitted on poles for the lighting of the grounds, and they were properly fitted with wires, and lighted up. Four telephone posts with four wires were another feature, the house being connected in the usual way. A water fountain decorated with three birds, and in working order, was also shown on the front lawn. A good road was laid out all around the front, and the backrooms made a number of square trees, showing up well. Some 150 cans of Sherwin-Williams paint, with red, white and blue hunting, filled in the whole of the backroom. The model house was tastefully dressed with decorations befitting a Dominion Day celebration.

The second window, facing on Ross Ave. was decorated with rifles, guns and ammunition all being made in the Dominion. Straight across the centre the words "Dominion Day" were formed with Black and Smokeless cartridges standing in an upright position. It was a very neat display. Every credit is coming to Dan Smith, who did the decorating.

The W. E. Lord Co. windows made a great showing, having lots of space. The north window represented the front of a house and verandah, being very nicely decorated, and having a variety of souvenir goods on view. The south window was also well decorated with flags and bunting, one half of it being used to display men's wear, with a picket fence in front, and the other half representing a booth with a lady attendant, who, however, did not compare in looks with the lady attendants inside the store. The overhead decoration of leaves looked very nice. The whole front of the store was also decorated with red, white and blue ribbons.

The Gaetz-Cornett windows were a big attraction. One window had a full showing of cameras and photographic goods, the second an electric wheel in motion, showing autos, rigs, and busses on the way to the Rexall Store, surrounded with a variety of saleable goods in the drug and scent lines. The third window had a scene depicting a camp at Sylvan Lake, consisting of a tent, hammock, thermos bottle and other necessary articles. The Lake was represented with a motor boat and a number of ducks upon it. The fourth window was stocked with the prizes for the winners at the sports and window and auto, decorating.

The Day Hardware Co.'s windows looked very well. Both were laid out with a groundwork of coiled rope on bunting. In the centre of one window six crossed guns supported a framed picture of the Fathers of Confederation, and the back of the window, built up with boards, was covered with red bunting and a large Maple Leaf and a Beaver were traced out on the same with white cord, showing up well. The covered boards of the second window had traced upon them with white cord a Stag's Head and the words "The Baby City." Here and there vacant places were filled in with articles usually found in a hardware store.

H. J. Snell's jewelry store window looked very nice, decorated with red, white and blue ribbon, and two vases of carnations; a background of enamelled Maple Leaf brooches on red satin; in the centre a richly cut glass fruit bowl and a new showing of silverware and handpainted silverware.

Brown's grocery had a nice display of men's boots and shoes.

McLean Bros. store windows, four in all, made a very good showing of dry goods and groceries. The grocery window was very smart, indeed, showing a fine display of goods, well placed, the ease of form in the centre attracting great attention.

J. M. Carcadden's window display of men's clothing looked very nice.

Hadley & Webb's music store had on view a fine variety of musical goods, the centre being formed of novelties, including one-string violin, fairy bells, drinking cups and musical money. A small Estey organ, styled the Baby City's Baby Organ, was admired in the window among the other goods.

W. T. Coote, the men's furnisher, had a well dressed window of a big variety of clothing.

E. G. Johns & Co., furniture, had their window display in the form of a bed room, furnished with a mahogany suite, consisting of dresser, chiffonier, sonometer, table and chairs, and a brass bed with red springs and Ostermoor mattress. The carpet was a high grade Wilton square.

Michener, Carscallen & Co.'s window had decorative flags and colored ribbons, with a centre picture of the Founders of the Dominion.

Latimer & Botterill's window represented the Union Jack in red, white and blue colors.

The Best Furniture Co. window was dressed with a verandah scene, displaying a hammock chair, 4 rattan chairs, table and smoking cabinet. A fine carpet covered the centre, on which stood a large imitation palm tree. There was just enough decorative ribbons to make the display look good.

H. H. Humbert's jewellery store windows were decorated with flags and ribbons. An Edison Amberola and phonograph and records occupied the space in a window, the other having a collection of valuable jewellery, silverware, plate and china.

J. C. Brazier's window had a novelty in the form of a baseball diamond, with the players in the field. Percy Smith is in the art of pitching, with Ilustis catching, and Mutt and Jeff umpiring; the bleachers filled with fans in the art of clapping and yelling. The balance of the window was filled with novelties and toys.

Smith & Gaetz took first prize, and W. E. Lord Co. second prize. H. J. Snell, McLean Bros., Gaetz-Cornett highly recommended. Day Hardware Co. and Best Furniture Co. commended.

G. W. Greene took first prize in the competition for best decorated auto.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

The Alberta Farmer, a paper published at Medicine Hat, had the following in its last issue:

The co-operative movement appears to be gaining some ground throughout Alberta and, carried out honestly and logically, there can be no objection to it. If the farmers wish to band themselves together and conduct a store, well and good, but in some quarters it is thought that the doctrine should be carried further and that people clubbing together and sending a combination order to the wholesaler should be accorded wholesale prices. This looks like carrying the thing too far. In many cases movements of this kind originate with people who, having been trusted by the merchant in times of adversity, seek in more prosperous days to spend their cash with some other person than the one who befriended them on lean days and years. We believe that the retail merchant is of value to any community and that so long as he is not an extortioner should be given local patronage. He gives a measure of employment and is usually a progressive citizen. Consequently we think he should not be passed by when the householder requires a cruise of oil or a measure of meal.

We observe in our exchange that a body of farmers in an Alberta town recently clubbed together and made up a grocery order. The wholesaler wrote back the following letter in reply:

"Dear Sir,—Answering your favor of the 8th inst., would advise that unless your Union change actively in the store business, we would not, under any circumstances whatever, regardless of the size of the order, think of selling you groceries. We are engaged in the wholesale business and have yet to find anyone who can satisfy us that the retail merchant in this country is not just as much entitled to make a living there as the farmer or wholesaler. If you want to see your province advance and prosper, we would strongly advise you to be willing to live and let live. Don't berate the general merchant a modest living; it is coming to him for the service he gives you."

This wholesaler, whose name is mentioned, appears to have sized up the situation correctly. There is a good deal of credit business in this country, and it frequently happens that when the retail merchant is trusting an individual the self same party is sending his cash away to another or clubbing in on a wholesale order where he can obtain one store clean, does not charge extra. As long as the local dealer keeps his clientele prices and generally conducts himself as he should, he is entitled to public patronage. But it sometimes happens that the merchant who clamors most for protection sends his orders for printing out of his home town. Hence we must remind him that he must remove the beam from his own eye before he attacks the mote which he finds in the optic of his neighbor.

However, taking him by and large, the retail merchant is not a bad fellow, and we observe that the community which is without him seeks him eagerly, which is not a bad sign.

"DONT'S" OF "DONT'S."

The Canadian magazine "Motoring" publishes some "Dont's for Pedestrians" in the way of advice to those who would avoid being run down by automobiles. As the carelessness of the public on the streets is proverbial, these "Dont's" have real value.

Don't cross an intersection at an angle; cross squarely. It takes a few seconds longer, but it is safer. Don't stop in the centre of the pavement.

Don't hesitate when crossing a street. Keep going. Don't attempt to read a newspaper when crossing a street.

Don't step abruptly off the curb. Look for passing cars. Don't stop from a moving car. Wait until it stops and the motorist will stop.

Don't dodge to and fro if in danger. Stand still and the man in the auto will know which side to take.

Don't allow your children to run wild on the street. A little restraint exercised with children will avoid accidents.

As a collision usually means a good deal more to the pedestrian than the motorist, the pedestrian ought to be entitled to issue a few "Dont's for Motorists" by way of representing the kindness to his fellow man.

Don't think the street is solely for your convenience. Don't imagine that every pedestrian has acquired nimbleness in getting out of the way—a few may have rheumatism or sciatica, and upset your calculations as to their speed.

Don't crowd into a crowded corner to "stop, look, listen."

Don't allow your reckless words and girls to drive the car. A little restraint exercised with children prevents accidents.

Don't forget that the young "miscreant"—the child on the street—whom you take chances of running down, is "somebody's darling," so young and so fair.

Don't think that your motor car conveys to you a privilege of making people scatter out of the way like a flock of chickens.

Don't forget that carelessness or recklessness on the part of a motorist later into trouble—either a smashed machine, an action for damages, bodily injury, a police court fine, or a healthy punishment from some person whom you have contemptuously disregarded.

Who Owns The Lyric

A LIVELY TILT IN COURT

DeWardo Babcock Gets The Worst of it

DeWardo Babcock was brought up before Justice Wallace on June 25th for unlawfully obtaining possession of the Lyric Theatre on June 23rd, and refusing to give up said possession when requested, thereby committing a breach of the peace.

Miss Muller, the complainant, in giving evidence, said that she had put over $3,000 into the business. She had made arrangements with Mr. Babcock to rent a theatre for her, whereby she was to be the owner and Mr. Babcock the manager, and the receipts were to be equally divided after all expenses were paid.

She gave him $500 when she came afterwards increasing it to the sum named. Mr. Babcock had never put one cent into the business, and all the money he had received had come out of the receipts, excepting what he had earned in musical engagements.

She had always sold the tickets at the window, and after certain expenses had been paid out of the cash, she had banked the balance in the name of Mr. Babcock. She asked Mr. Babcock for a settlement a few days after she came to Red Deer, and she had repeatedly asked him for same since, but he had refused.

ways said he would give her a statement after the bills had been paid and everything cleaned up. On June 11th she received a communication from Mr. Babcock suggesting that she should come to see him at his home, which she took to Mr. Quigg at Mr. Babcock's suggestion.

Mr. Quigg made an appointment with Mr. Babcock, who failed to turn up, but on Mr. Quigg going to the Lyric to see Miss Muller, Mr. Babcock came forward and said he would go and sign the papers, which he did, giving Miss Muller the sole right to everything in the Lyric. On June 23rd Mr. Babcock refused to allow Miss Muller entrance to the ticket office, and had during the day threatened W. R. Davis to place a lock on the door. Chief Anderson, who was at the Lyric, seeing that there was likely to be a breach of the peace, advised Miss Muller to go away, which she did.

Mr. Payne, solicitor for the defence, cross-examined Miss Muller at great length, but did not shake her evidence. She stated that all the time previous to Mrs. Babcock coming to Red Deer, her own brother was living in the house with her and part of the time two other gentlemen as well. She had kept a boarding house in R.C., which she had sold out. Mr. Payne said he had no evidence to call, but thought the case ought to be dismissed on the evidence, and thought Mr. Babcock had been dealt with very badly, as Miss Muller had got everything and Mr. Babcock nothing. Mr. Quigg, for the prosecutor, said he thought he had made out a good case and his worship should send it for trial. He thought, on the evidence produced, that Mr. Babcock had behaved as a common swindler. Justice Wallace said he thought there was lots of evidence to commit the accused, and he should commit him for trial, and allow bail of $1,000 himself and two sureties of $500 each. He was given till Friday morning to provide the bail, which he did. Messrs. Arnold and W. Spier going on the appeal.

"NOT BEEN NOWHERE."

A certain haunted house down in Georgia was held in terror by all the negroes in the vicinity except Sam, who bravely declared that for $2 he would sleep there all night. A purse was raised and Sam was told to carry out his end of the bargain and to call in the morning for his money. When morning came no trace could be found of Sam; the house contained nothing but the evidence of a hurried departure. A search party was organized, but without result.

Finally, four days later, Sam, covered with mud, came slowly walking down the road.

"Hi, der, nigger!" yelled a bystander. "Where's you been de las' fo' days?"

To which Sam curtly responded: "Ah's been comin' back."

Prelude Wheat Ten Days Ahead of Marquis

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT MADE ON GOVERNMENT FARM AT INDIAN HEAD

Indian Head, Sask., June 26.—A field of Prelude wheat on the government's experimental farm here is 30 inches high and well headed out. The field of Prelude is at least ten days ahead of a field of Marquis planted the side of it at the same time. A field of the same variety on the farm of Angus McKay Farm Seed Company has just been insured for $175 per acre by Andrew Dickson, agent for the British Crown Insurance Company. This is believed to be a record policy for wheat.

Samples of this wheat were procured by J. E. Cunningham, of the Cunningham Land Co., last year from Prof. Saunders, of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, who assured Mr. Cunningham, in a conversation he had with him, that it was the most noted discovery in years. Mr. Cunningham has been greatly interested in this wheat for several years, and the samples were placed with farmers in the district to grow it. The farmers are A. Lecker, Shady Nook; A. McKenna, Penhold, and J. J. Gaetz, Babmal, and up to time of writing the plots are all looking very promising. This wheat is as hard as Red Fife, and at Brandon Experimental Farm in 1911 it ripened in 95 days, and in 1912 it ripened in 85 days. The milling qualities are equal to the best, and straw short but strong. The glowing reports of early maturing qualities of Prelude wheat, from such sources as Prof. Saunders and the Brandon Experimental Farm, should cause every farmer in this district to learn everything possible about it, and grow it as quickly as possible, as a 90 day wheat solves the wheat problem of this district where Red Fife wheat is too slow of maturity for the average farmer.

American Eagle Not Being Ostrich Cannot Digest Any More Colors

London Times Declares that Japan's Immediate Need is Greater Clarity of Thought.

London, June 23.—Rear-Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, U.S.N., retired, the noted naval expert, writes a long letter to the Times on the American attitude towards Japanese immigration. He lays down as the main reason why the Japanese are not wanted in America is because they cannot assimilate with American people.

The Times, in an editorial, expresses sympathy with the attitude of the United States, and, quoting Rear-Admiral Mahan's statement that "immigration with its implications of racialization," points out that while even the lowest types of inhabitants of south-eastern Europe rapidly became American citizens of a sort, the Japanese remain a race apart. The Times adds: "America already possesses in the negro an alien mass which it cannot assimilate, and does not want another. The American eagle has a powerful digestion, but it is not an ostrich." The Times expresses the opinion that the opposing forces in America and Japan are essentially irreconcilable, and may some day prove to contain very explosive elements. Without wholly condemning the Japanese, the Times urges them to pursue their desires without minority language, and to remember how many deficiencies they have still to make good. It concludes by saying: "Japan's immediate need is greater clarity of thought."

Six Edmonton People Drowned in Icy Flood of Saskatchewan

Motor Boat Party Meets Death When Launch Strikes Snag and Overturns—One Man Saved After Valiant Attempt to Save His Wife—Bodies Not Yet Found.

THE DEAD. U. C. Hooper, manager of the Marshall-Wells Company. Mrs. Hooper, his wife. Mrs. Everett Case, wife of the manager of the west end branch of the Imperial Bank. Earl C. Meredith, superintendent of Marshall-Wells Company. Mrs. Meredith. Robert Patton, mechanic operating boat.

SAVED. The saved one is Everett Case, manager of the west end branch of the Imperial Bank. Edmonton, June 26.—Before hundreds of spectators on the river banks this evening at half past eight, six well-known Edmonton young people were drowned tonight close to the low level bridge by the overturning of a 60-ohm launch. Amid fruitless cries for aid six of the occupants of the boat sank in the fast-running river. Case clung to the boat and was eventually rescued. On the trip down the river, while the party was gay with laughter, there was a sudden jar to the boat due to it striking a snag. The engine stopped and the boat overturning precipitated its occupants into the river.

STRUGGLED IN STREAM. A large crowd was just leaving the ball grounds, saw the launch overturned, and rushed east along the bank of the river until they got to a point just south of Syndicate avenue and Jasper on the east end of the city, where the occupants of the launch could be plainly seen still struggling in the waters.

There was a rush for boats, but already the victims of the treacherous river had sunk from sight. At once boats were put out from the river bank and they are now dragging to recover the remaining bodies. Mrs. Case, one of the drowned, had only returned with her husband from their honeymoon on June 16. They were married May 27 in Spokane. Meredith and his wife are also a newly married couple. Case, the only one saved in the accident, is prostrated as a result, and is now under a physician's care.

Where Railroad Earnings Go

RAILWAY AND LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERING

The enemies of railroad interests try to make people believe that railroad earnings are swallowed by grasping stockholders who use very little of the money for the benefit of the American people. That idea is far from being true. In fact most of the railroad revenues are devoted to paying the wages of the employees, and, of course, through that channel reach those who produce the necessities of life. As an illustration, the Pennsylvania Railroad System last year paid $188,749,312 in wages and $108,209,372 as payment to capital.

These reliable figures prove that labor receives the greater share of the revenues, and therefore has the biggest stake in the prosperity of railroads. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company can be fairly taken as representing all the railroads in the country, with the difference that its proportion of remuneration to capital is greater than most of the other railroad companies. Capital works for wages the same as men do, and when the pay is cut down, strikes follow and railroad companies have difficulty in securing the capital necessary for the operation.

WOOD-BLOCK PAVING

Under Improved Methods
Proving Very Satisfactory

The paving of city streets with wood is again coming into favor, new methods of laying the pavements making this one of the most satisfactory of pavements. Vancouver's pavements are largely of the same material. Eighty-two per cent. of the new paving in Minneapolis is wood-block, and Saskatoon and other Western towns are giving the wood-block paving the preference.

Best results are obtained from rectangular-shaped blocks cut from Southern or Norway pine, which are thoroughly seasoned and creosoted. This latter process not only lengthens the life of the wood but reduces its absorptive capacity for water, thus preventing the weakening of the wood-fibres and reducing its tendency to buckle. The most approved method of laying this pavement, used in London, New York and other large cities, is to first make a concrete foundation four to six inches thick, on which is laid a thin layer of sand, or better still, of moist Portland cement, into which the blocks are closely set.

The blocks are from five to nine inches in depth, and must be free from defects. Care must be taken to place them with the grain perpendicular to the road-bed. If laid with the long edges at right angles to the curb the joints are apt to become worn by the cabs on the horses' shoes, so to prevent this and to best provide for possible expansion, the paving is laid at an angle of about sixty-seven degrees with the curb. The joints are usually filled with ground cement and the surface of the paving is then covered with a thin dressing of coarse sand, which beds into the pores of the blocks and roughens them.

Such a pavement has the smoothness of asphalt and will last almost without repair for fifteen years under ordinary conditions. It is sanitary, noiseless, easily kept clean and has a certain springiness lacking in asphalt, and so is much easier on horses' feet. Expert labor is not required in its laying and the cost of maintenance is practically nil, so that from the standpoint of cost as well, it compares favorably with the asphalt, macadam and brick now being used in Canadian towns and cities.

The manufacture of wood-blocks for paving would furnish sawmill owners with a means of utilizing the many defective logs of Norway pine which now serve as firewood, and a steady market be developed, much of the waste in connection with present lumbering and milling operations could be avoided.

Toronto Globe Praises Minister of Militia

SAYS HE IS ON THE RIGHT TRACK

Approves Proposal to Provide Number of Drill Sheds and Armouries so Young Men of Canada Can Learn to March and Shoot.

The Toronto Globe has come out in favor of the splendid work being done by Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence. Formerly the Minister of Militia was attacked most bitterly by the chief Liberal organ but now a change has occurred when the work of the Minister is recognized. In a recent editorial the Globe says:

ON RIGHT TRACK.

"Col. Hughes is on the right track when he talks of building inexpensive drill sheds and armouries in the small towns and making them centres for training. These military gymnasia will give the country would become centres for the winter social life of the young fellows, rivaling the hockey rinks, and would serve to keep the lads out of the saloons. In summer the rifle ranges should be as convenient as the drill-gym in winter, and all the year round there should be a good drill sergeant and rifle instructor at the call of the company. The essence of the system of training should be the acquisition of skill with the rifle and physique that would make a ten-mile march, in full kit, exercise, rather than punishment.

TO MARCH AND SHOOT.

"The fuss, frills, and feathers should be cut out. Under the conditions outlined there should be no need to provide elaborate trappings to attract the youth of the country to the militia.

"That is the Globe's idea of how Canada's citizen soldiers should be drilled. Col. Hughes is on the right track if he proposes to hold down the amount to be spent on the professional soldier and to devote as much of the militia appropriation as possible to teaching young Canada to march and shoot."

BAPTIST GIRL WILL REMAIN AT RED DEER CONVENT

Samuel Hodgkinson's Daughter cannot be Taken Home by Parents.

Mr. Justice Beck, Monday of last week, at Calgary, sitting in chambers, refused the application of Samuel Hodgkinson for a writ of habeas corpus for his daughter, Elmina, as against the St. Joseph's convent at Red Deer. His lordship dismissed the writ on the ground that the girl had reached the age of choice and could live where she pleased. It is likely that an appeal will be made to a higher court.

Two affidavits were presented in the case, one from the father and the other from the stepmother of the girl. The father stated that the girl was 17. That she had been sent to the convent at Red Deer for education. That instructions were given to the sister superior that she should not be talked to about religion. The girl remained at the convent till the end of March of this year when she was brought home. She escaped from her father's house in the third week in June. The father said that the girl had said she wished to become a Catholic and he wished to have her brought up a Baptist.

J. McKinley Cameron appeared for the parents of the girl, and on the other side appeared W. E. Payne from Red Deer and the girl was accompanied by two sisters of the convent.

The defence merely stated that they were protecting the girl who had refused to live any longer with her parents.

C.N.R. PRESIDENT NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR STATEMENTS

Sir William Express Great Confidence in Western Canada Securities.

Saskatoon, June 26.—A telegram from Sir William McKenna was received by the city commissioners on Wednesday, which the president of the C.N.R. stated that his company would assume no responsibility for the statements of Home Payne regarding western municipal bonds.

The railway magnate expressed the opinion that he personally regarded municipal securities as first class investments.

WORKERS SURPRISED AT IGNORANCE.
Winnipeg, June 26.—(Hon. Robert Rogers has wired the Saskatchewan Board of Trade as follows:—

"Your message to Ottawa has been repeated to me here, regarding statement made by Home Payne, and let me say that I entirely agree with the protest which you have registered. What surprises me is that a man like Home Payne, who claims to have some standing as a financier, should be so utterly and absolutely ignorant of conditions in Western Canada."

Western municipal bonds are decidedly popular in money markets wherever they are known, and it will take a great deal more than the statement of a man like Home Payne to affect their good standing.

Over this does not excuse him for attempting to misrepresent the business and credit of others when he might better be attending to his own.

WRECK NEAR OTTAWA
Eight Dead and Fifty Injured is Total of Wreck on C.P.R.—Colonist Cars Haul Into River—Dead Women Newsmen on Way West to Seattle.

Ottawa, June 26.—Eight dead and over 50 injured, two probably fatal, is the toll of a railway accident three miles from Ottawa, Wednesday afternoon when the C.P.R. Winnie-peg train left the track. All the dead and practically all the injured are emigrants, mostly from the British Isles. The cause of the wreck is not known, but it is thought to have been either a loose rail or what is known in railway parlance as a "sun-kink."

Among the passengers were several Calgary residents. The wreck occurred in Pullman cars and it is believed none were injured. The Calgary people included: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Stevens, who had been visiting relatives in Halifax, and was on her way home. Mrs. Stevens is believed to have escaped injury; Mrs. W. Hall, of Calgary, who left Montreal Tuesday, was on the train on her way home. She was unhurt.

P. W. Cross, with his wife and daughter, also were on their way to Calgary.

The train left here at 1:30 and consisted of baggage and mail cars, three Pullman cars, one first class tourist, a diner and a Pullman car. Two of the colonist cars turned completely over, and lay on their sides on the Ottawa river, which is skirted by the C.P.R. track for some distance. It was from these two cars that the dead were taken.

A ROLE REPEATED

Let His Friend Down Easy When He Saw the Joke.

By FRANK FILON.
"Confound those storage people," muttered Tom Bryant, as he unlocked the door of his apartment and ushered his friend Wells into an empty room. He stared round him. "Well, of all the galls!" he exclaimed. "Here's that confounded landlord of mine decorated the walls in saffron when I went over the matter with him a dozen times and he swore by all the gods to do them in red. And the storage men were on their honor to have my furniture in today. I tell you, Billy, it makes a fellow tired."

They entered and sat down upon a board which the painters had left stretched out between two steps—down Tom lit his pipe and began puffing savagely.

The men were old acquaintances whom fate had driven apart for many years. Recently Tom Bryant had been spending his vacation with Wells in the Adirondacks, and the latter had accompanied him back to his home, to be his guest for a few days. Mrs. Bryant, who had been visiting his mother, was expected on the following morning.

"I'm going round to the storage men the first thing in the morning," said Tom, "and I'm going to tell them some of the things I won't do to them if they don't have my goods here before 11 o'clock." He paused and began wrinkling his brow. "Billy," he said, "if you'll give me your word of honor never to breathe a word of it I'll tell you of an extraordinary thing that happened to me when I got back from my honeymoon four years ago. Mrs. Bryant has never ceased teasing room, and the bath-room with its three-quarter length tub, and the gas bracket over the medicine chest, and my key which fitted the lock. I didn't know where to turn. Eleanor found it at Syracuse, and even if she had got angry at my delay and gone home, she couldn't have taken the furniture with her. And the janitor was out somewhere and I couldn't find a soul in the basement to ask about her.

"Well, I spent that night pacing through the apartment, and by morning I was as nearly crazy as a man could be. Somehow or other, though, I managed to call up the office to say I couldn't get down, and when I got the answer I found I could get down after all. In fact I got down in record time. Eleanor had been telephoning all the evening before until they closed up at eleven (we were doing a rush business then), and morning she had camped on the door-step about six and waited till the day watchman came on duty, and then she had a fit of hysteria in his arms. And the police had been notified and were searching the hospitals and looking in all the dark corners to see if I was lying there camouflaged. When I got down and Eleanor fainting in my arms and then came to and had another hysterical attack in the middle of the office doorway. It was no joke, I tell you. And all because I had mistaken the street and walked into the corresponding house on the same block in the street above it. I tell you, Billy, my sticks and rugs looked pretty good to me when I got back with Mrs. Bryant about nine o'clock."

"But for the Lord's sake don't mention a word about it to her when you meet. You'll be surprised how she has changed from the time when you knew her four years ago. Do you remember telling her she looked as though she would never grow up, that day you said good bye to us at the station?" She has, though, and into a fine woman. You see, we've had some pretty heavy responsibilities, old man, during these few years, what with our business nearly going out in the panic and then shooting up like a rocket. When we had to get out of Fifty-seventh street we took a regular one-way place up in the Bronx. But I knew things would get better again, and it wasn't long before we were able to get back into our old quarters again. But we'd always coveted this apartment house—come to the window! That's where we used to live—number 465, across the street. And when we took this place last month we felt that we had begun to stretch our selves at last.

"Where did you say you used to live?" asked William Wells.

"Number 465—across the street, Billy," said the other warning.

"Fifty-seventh street?"

"Sure! This is Fifty-seventh street. Why?"

"O nothing," answered his friend. "Only they must have marked it wrong on the corner lamps, because they call it Fifty-eighth. Tom, you blundering fool, you're in the wrong house again!"

TREE THAT EXHIBITS ANGER

In Idaho a Species Quakes and Emits an Unpleasant Odor When Disturbed.

In Idaho there exists a species of the acacia tree which is entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of plant life. This tree, Harper's Weekly states, attains a height of about eight feet. When full grown it closes its leaves together in colds each day at sunset and curls its twigs to the shape of pig tails. When the tree has thus settled itself for its night's sleep it is said that if touched it will utter as if agitated or impatient at the disturbance. The oftener it is averred, the foliage is molested, the more violent will become the shaking of the branches. Finally, if further annoyed, if the shaking be continued, the tree will at length emit a nauseating odor quite sufficient to induce headache in the case of the person disturbing the tree.

In Idaho it is called the "angry tree" and it is said that it was discovered by men who, on making camp for the night, placed one end of a canvas covering over one of the sensitive branches, using it for a support. Immediately the tree began to jerk its branches sharply. The motion continued, with increasing "nervousness," until at last came a sickening rattle that drove the three campers to a more friendly locality.

Curiously prompted an investigation. One of the "angry trees" was dug up and thrown to one side. Immediately upon being removed from the ground it was said that the tree opened its leaves, it twice lost their pig tails and/or something over an hour and a half the outraged branches showed no indication by a series of quakes, which grew weaker and weaker and ceased when the foliage had become limp and withered.

Had Better Knowledge.
Lord Dufferin delivered an address before the Greek class of the McGill University, about which a reporter wrote: "His lordship spoke to the class in the purest ancient Greek without mispronouncing a word or committing the slightest grammatical solecism." "Good heavens!" remarked Sir Hector Langevin to the late Sir John A. McDonald, "how did he reporter know that?" "I told him," was the conservative statesman's answer. "But you don't know Greek." "True, but I know a little about politics."

POULTRY RULES

A great source of contagion is in the drinking troughs. Remember, if roop should make its appearance in your poultry house, in place of "tonics" drop a nail into the drinking trough and allow it to remain there. It will supply all the "tincture of iron" required.

If you feed whole corn place it in the oven and bake it occasionally and feed smoking hot. The fowls appreciate it in frosty weather.

A little muslin or oil meal given once a week in the soft feed will promote laying. This will not come under the heading of "dosing the fowls with medicine."

Do not throw your table scraps into the hen's barrel, but give them to the chickens.

One of the most important points in the keeping of ducks is to give them clean, dry quarters at night. They are very prone to leg weakness in the morning when they are out.

Feed your fowls just what they will eat up clean.

Fat hens or pullets are not good layers. The latter is just what you want when the eggs are 28 cents or more per dozen.

Fowls over three years-old are not as a rule good breeders. The males are unable to properly fertilize the eggs for hatching while the hen is usually weak. Four years is generally a ripe old age for a fowl.

Each hen if properly fed will lay from 200 to 250 eggs a year.

Liver and intestines are an excellent food to make hens lay.

Keep an abundant supply of lime where the hens can easily get it if you desire your hens to lay well.

Always clean the nest well and put in fresh straw before the hens begin to sit.—H. J. K.

FIRST WESTERN PAPER

Made its Appearance on December 28, 1819.

The Nor-Western, the pioneer newspaper of Red River, founded by William Wicks and William Caldwell, made its first appearance on December 28, 1819. It consisted of four pages of five columns. The lengthy prospectus published in the first number took for its text the country watered by the Red, Assiniboine and Saskatchewan Rivers. The declared aim of the Nor-Western was to stimulate the industrial life of the Settlement and to assist in the work of Government organization. It is a curious commentary on the state of the country in the late fifties that most of the advertisements of the first number of the Nor-Western came from St. Paul. The paper constitutes a gold mine of information for the closing decade of the history of the Council of Assiniboine, the first local administrative body of the west. It reports the proceedings of the courts, gives agricultural and commercial intelligence, publishes the regulations of the Red River Post Office, gives in full Bishop Anderson's charge to the clergy of Rupert's Land, prints editorials on the progress of the Settlement, and protests against the Council of Assiniboine as a form of government.

MILLIONS IN FISH

Still the Industry at the Coast is Only in Its Infancy

The fisheries of British Columbia are the most valuable in the Dominion. Of the $35,000,000 worth of fish produced from all the Provinces in Canada, the one contributing the most to the value of $14,000,000, Salmon, halibut and herring are the three chief varieties of fish which inhabit the waters of British Columbia, and of these salmon are the most valuable. The Fraser River, especially that section of it flowing through the lower mainland, contributes most liberally to the fisheries of the Province. The salmon pack in parts of British Columbia last year amounted to 936,576 cases, of which the lower mainland district, including the Province's largest canneries at New Westminster, contributed 173,921 cases, or almost twenty per cent of the entire pack. The fishing business on the coast is only in its infancy. The rivers of the northern part of the interior are practically unknown, so far as their fertility is concerned, and the fishermen on the coast are only beginning to realize the immense wealth which lurks in the numerous bays and inlets of the Pacific coast.

TRADE IN TRACTORS

Some Idea of the Volume of Western Machinery Business

In one week a special freight train consisting of forty-five flat cars loaded with gasoline tractors arrived in Winnipeg from Minneapolis. The total length of the train was 1,390 feet, and was one of the largest shipments of any agricultural implement ever made in Canada. Each of these gasoline tractors will plow, disc and drill 2,000 acres in a season, so that the total acreage covered by the forty-five tractors would amount to 90,000 acres. It is also estimated that each engine will do 100 miles in a season. The tractors are all thirty horsepower and identical in every way. The value of the shipment was $175,000, and the duty amounted to $24,000, and the freight charges $3,150. The train went to Regina, where one-half of the engines were unloaded, the other half going to Saskatoon.

Every Coin Has Its Jingle
Dr. Bickerstick, vicar of Leeds, involved at a vestry meeting against the niggardliness of worshippers at the Leeds Parish Church. People, he said, sat in a stall and contributed little or nothing to the church's expenses. It was really abominable and scandalous. There were people who expected everything for nothing. A churchwarden, endorsing the vicar's regret at the poor response made to the collections, recalled the on a recent Sunday he received from a lady in the stalls the magnificent sum of a halfpenny. "Some people," he said, "think that if they put a copper under the lid we do not know whether it is a shilling or a halfpenny. That is quite a mistake, for every coin is known by its jingle."

The 34th annual meeting of the Canadian Order of Foresters met in the Masonic Temple in the city of London on June 10th. There were over five hundred delegates present.

The meeting was opened by G. H. Jewell, District Organizer, and A. G. Ayres, Secretary. The Order had its birth in London in November, 1879, this being the third time since then that the annual meeting has been held there. The annual reports show that there has been a steady progress each year, including 1912. The Order is strictly Canadian, confining its business to Canada only. The increase in the insurance funds for 1912 amounted to $589,727. 50c. death claims have been paid, amounting to $508,351, and the fund now stands $1,989,976.00. The increase shows an annual interest of $167,166, and the use of the funds are confined to municipal and school debentures of the Dominion of Canada.

The membership is growing in a substantial way, the net increase during 1912 being 4,410, the standing of the Order being 87,536. One of the special benefits now for those suffering from tuberculosis, there have been forty-one new courts instituted, and special efforts are being made in the new time.

REFRIGERATORS

Don't buy a cheaply made refrigerator. Articles of food absorb moisture and become contaminated and unsafe.

The refrigerators we handle are built on the most modern and sanitary principles. The construction insures a constant circulation of pure dry air, with a minimum ice consumption.

They are zinc lined, over which a heavy coat of white enamel is put, making it thoroughly rust and mould-proof.

No open joints to catch the air. Every part can be moved for cleaning.

It will last twice as long as a cheap refrigerator, and soon save enough ice to pay for itself.

We stock two sizes at $15.00 and $20.00
